DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 42 and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 42 recites use of the device of claim 24 but does not recite any method steps. Claim 43 recites a catalyst obtained by using the device of claim 24 but does not set forth any structure for the catalyst.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 24-42, 44 and 45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nova et al. (6,329,139). Nova et al. (6,329,139) teaches an apparatus and method for the production and screening of a library of materials formed on a bead or other compound substrate that contains an electronic tag or memory. The system is described in general in columns 5-16. The system includes a reactor system and screening elements as well as a computer system for control and data analysis (col. 5, lines 5-22; col. 7, lines 54-65; columns 20 and 21; column 88; and the claims). The system also includes several sorting devices shown in Figures 7, 8, 70-73, 76-78 and 127 and described in column 20. The sorting devices include a stationary component (feeder) and a non-stationary component (singulator means, positioning means and translator). The unit for uptake would be any container taught by Nova than can hold the library material. Nova teaches a variety of container transport means including turntables and conveyor belts in columns 165-166. Nova teaches bead particle sizes of 10-2000 micrometers in column 42. The method is also described in general in columns 5-16 and also the claims. It includes providing arrays and/or sub-arrays of compounds that are sorted (pre or post-reaction) and grouped together on the basis of a detected physical, chemical or biochemical properties (Figures 33C, columns 5, 6, 15 and 16).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Goldwasser, Ribelli, Wang and Guan teaches device for the examination of compounds.
